Picked a Winner

FOR GLEICHEN BYE-ELECTION.

Great Enthusiasm at the Large Convention Held Friday Evening.

Bulletin Special.
Calgary, Nov. 10.—This morning the Calgary Albertan reports the Gleichen Liberal convention as follows:

"E. H. Riley, rancher and farmer, a resident of the thriving suburb of Hillhurst is the man for Gleichen. Liberalism is the most enthusiastic convention ever held, in the riding, came to the unanimous decision last night, Mr. Riley, who is well known in the riding as a strong man, is a well respected citizen and very able orator and debater and will start on his campaign at once, and from this time until the elections there will be a keen contest. The convention was very large. Out of thirty possible votes, seventy-one were cast, and some few were present who were without credentials. John Clark Jr., president of the Gleichen Liberal Association, presided at the meeting. Before nomination, the following resolution was brought in by Mr. Hallman of Aldridge, and carried unanimously: 'That this convention express its appreciation of the services for the constituency and the cause of good government of our late member, C. A. Stuart, and that we express our regret at his retirement from public life. This convention tenders him its hearty congratulations on his appointment to the bench.'"

When nominations were called, the following were placed in nomination: Col. Walker, of East Calgary; Dr. Ross of Crossfield; E. H. Riley, of Hillhurst; and Dr. Rousseau, of Rouleauville. The last named gentleman insisted upon retiring, but his nomination was declined to permit it. The candidates were called upon to address the meeting. Col. Walker referred to his long residence in the country, pressure that had been brought to bear upon him twenty-five years ago to become a candidate, which he refused, his loyalty to the Alberta administration, and his desire to abide by the result of the convention. Dr. Ross made a brief speech. E. H. Riley made a very strong speech. In his address he referred to the good work of the Rutledge administration, and the able administration of the department of public works by Hon. Mr. Cushing. He referred to some of the things that had been done by the Government for the farmers, such as the telephone subsidy, which would eventually place the telephone within the reach of every farmer, agricultural policy, encouragement of dairy and poultry raising industries and beef commission. Dr. Rousseau repeated his desire to retire and asked the delegates not to vote for him. This final ballot resulted as follows: Riley 24; Bishop 22; Walker 21. The delegates listened to Dr. Rousseau's request and he got only a few votes. The second ballot resulted as follows: Riley 24; Bishop 22; Walker 21. The delegates listened to Dr. Rousseau's request and he got only a few votes. The second ballot resulted as follows: Riley 24; Bishop 22; Walker 21.

MANAGER ASKED TO RESIGN.

Dominion Coal Co.'s Affairs Reported in Unenviable Condition.

Bulletin Special.
Sydney, N.S., Nov. 11.—A startling discovery is reported to have been made by officers of the Dominion Coal Co., that there is a shortage aggregating some $200,000 in the management of the company's system of stores.

The company has one or two stores at all the collieries under separate management and all are responsible to the general superintendent, who up to Wednesday, was S. D. M. Burchell. On that day Mr. Burchell returned from luncheon to find his office padlocked and his desk sealed. His immediate resignation was asked for and accepted. There is said to have been a stormy reception from President Ross for him.

Nov. 23; Bishop 22; Walker 21. On the announcement of the vote Co. Walker retired. The third ballot resulted: Riley 24; Bishop 22; Walker 21. The result of the convention was then made unanimous. Mr. Riley accepted the decision in a neat speech.

Hon. Mr. Cushing made a short speech referring to the work of the administration. He spoke of the absolute freedom from criticism of the administration by the Opposition. He closed with a very neat tribute to the late member for Gleichen.

Mr. Cross, Attorney-General, who is now in the city for a few days, made a strong speech. He referred to the issues in the present contest. The Liberal party had decided upon a policy at the convention in Calgary in September, 1905, but the Government had done more than carry out that policy. One of the first things done by the administration was to adopt a telephone policy and to begin the building of trunk telephone lines.

"Are you prepared to endorse that?" asked Mr. Cross. "If you are prepared to take such action you will vote for the government candidate." Another thing that the Government had done was the taxation of railways, by which means Alberta had secured a revenue from the C. P. R. of $100,000 a year.

"In this contest, said Mr. Cross, 'You are asked to endorse this, to back up, to ratify this legislation.' Duncan Marshall, as usual, made a rattling good speech. He referred to the fact that Mr. Walsh had objected to his presence in the contest. 'But I am very much in the same position as Mr. Walsh,' said Mr. Marshall. 'There is a very great similarity between us. We both came from Ontario. We both live outside the riding of Gleichen. We both contested elections in Ontario for the House of Commons. We both ran in a strong Conservative riding and were both beaten by the same majority. The difference is that I ran as a Liberal in a strong Conservative riding and was beaten, while Mr. Walsh ran as a Conservative in a strong Conservative riding and was beaten by 384. And again there is another similarity. At the last election in Alberta Mr. Walsh had management of the Conservative party and I had something to do with the management of the Liberal interests. I do not say that there was any inequality in the results. And now Mr. Walsh is a candidate again.' Mr. Marshall mentioned that it was said Mr. Walsh was to be elected leader of the Opposition in the House. This seemed as though there was to be another 'nest of traitors.' Mr. Walsh could not be the leader of the Opposition for even if elected three would have to be leader. But the leader of the Opposition would not vote for Mr. Walsh, and even if Mr. Hiebert did support the new candidate Mr. Walsh would be too modest to vote for himself. Mr. Marshall referred to the speech of Mr. Walsh, in which he not only did not criticize the administration but praised it. Why the Opposition then? Not one item of expenditure in the legislature had been opposed. There had been no criticism. In all the legislatures of the Dominion no legislature had passed as much good legislation as that of the province of Alberta in one session.

"The speeches were very vigorously applauded. At the conclusion of the meeting sturdy cheers were given for Mr. Riley and the King."

The expenditure was $15,617,081 a decrease of over $200,000 as compared with 1905. This shows a betterment of about four millions and a quarter. Earthquake

CAUSED MILD ERUPTION.

Vesuvius and Vicinity Disturbed by Tremors—Showers of Ashes.

Bulletin Special.
Naples, Nov. 11.—At noon today Mount Vesuvius and the surrounding villages were shaken up by a kind of earthquake which was accompanied by detonations and followed by a considerable fall of ashes, especially over the town, which was destroyed during the eruption last April and is now in course of reconstruction. The phenomenon caused great alarm. Investigation showed that part of the crater of the volcano had fallen in. During the afternoon there were three more slight shocks and a further discharge of ashes which was blown in the direction of Pompeii and Ottajano. Thus far Naples has not been affected by the eruption, but a dark column of smoke can be seen from the city hovering over the crater.

THE EARL IMPROVED.

Toronto, Nov. 9.—A dozen members of the Ontario Lord's Day Alliance in the annual meeting to-day voted a resolution of thanks to Earl Grey for his interest in the work of the alliance. The reading of the resolution brought forth a protest from Rev. Mr. Scott, who stated that he had read in the newspapers a report of hunting expeditions that the Governor General had planned for on a Sunday. He was sure that he was correct and in view of this fact thought it would be ridiculous to have such a resolution go on the records of the association. Other dissenting voices were heard, and upon the suggestion of J. K. Macdonald, President of the Association it was decided to leave the name of Lord Grey out of the resolution.

Y.M.C.A. Work

REFERRED TO IN CHURCHES.

Secretary Chadwick Addressed Congregation of McDougall Church Last Evening.

Yesterday was Y. M. C. A. day in the city churches. The pastors throughout the city gave special emphasis to Christian work among the young men and made a special plea on behalf of the new Y. M. C. A. building proposed for Edmonton and for which the contract is already let.

Mr. R. B. Chadwick, Y. M. C. A. secretary for the city of Edmonton, gave an address in the evening. The choir was composed entirely of men and some splendid singing was rendered by a chorus comprised of Messrs. Hanby, Jamieson, Dr. Nicholas, Prof. Race, Charlton, Pearson, Kuhn and Pritchard. Mr. Fred Tucker presided at the organ.

Mr. Chadwick in his address, spoke of the inception, development and aim of the Y. M. C. A. with special reference to the situation in the city of Edmonton. He said the Y. M. C. A. was the outcome of the modern. It was an attempt, and a successful attempt, to meet the problem of modern city life. It began in England at the time when the population segregated to the cities.

The Y. M. C. A. was not a substitute for the home life, and in this city, when the Y. M. C. A. shall be in operation no boy, except a working boy, shall be permitted to remain after seven o'clock in the evening.

The idea of the Y. M. C. A. was the outcome of the work of Sir George Williams, when a clerk in a London wholesale house, among his fellow-workers, and he became the nucleus of this organization that has spread over the world. In 1845 the first Y. M. C. A. secretary was engaged.

In speaking of the work in this city Mr. Chadwick said the work would be supplementary to the school work of the boys and young men. A physical director would be in charge who was fully qualified and who would intelligently direct the play spirit of the boy, the aim of the Y. M. C. A. was to train the boys in the most potent influence in the life of the nation in promoting Christian citizenship.

Rev. C. H. Huelsa, in a few supplementary observations, said there were two institutions of the Christian church that have passed the experimental stage, and these are the Sabbath school, and the Young Men's Christian Association. The latter is an institution that commands the attention of the successful business men. The Y. M. C. A. is not a substitute for church life.

THE NEW SACK SUIT

This Coat is Made Without Vents in Sides or Centre of Back. The result is a suit of the Semi-Ready Company, which is the recognized authority on mens' fashions, has just issued a new book, describing and illustrating the new Fall fashions for gentlemen.

A particularly good portrait of the new sack suit with its graceful flare of the skirt and its slight conformation to the waist line is shown in the new book.

This suit is made without either side or centre vents. It is the correct shape for the season, and in the Eastern cities no other style can be sold. Kelly & Co. will show the real Semi-Ready suit to anyone. It is on the inside pocket of Coats, Trousers and Overcoats.

Y. M. C. A. WORK.

It is a phase of the church's work and an extension of her function.

In the city Presbyterian church Rev. Dr. McQueen took as his subject the glory of man is his strength. He discussed the subject under four heads.

The physical weakness of the body must be cared for as it is the home of the spirit, and in the battle against sin a sound, healthy body was an important and important factor.

Next there is intellectual strength, moral strength and self-control, combined by a ritual strength, the crown of glory. He observed it was possible to have the physical and intellectual strength of our nature developed and even the moral strength unless these were consecrated by the spiritual, the structure of manhood failed.

Speaking of the Y. M. C. A., Dr. McQueen highly commended the work, and expressed satisfaction that so many had made liberal donations. He hoped that in the near future we would also have Y. M. C. A.

In Queen's avenue Presbyterian church Mr. Aubrey Fullerton gave an address and based his remarks upon the analogy of the young men who came west and eventually the urgent need of Y. M. C. A. work.

In Grace church the services took the form of a children's rally. Arrangements had been made some time for children's day, consequently Rev. Mr. Fullerton was foreseen in a special address to the young men.

He emphasized the need of the movement and asked the young men to liberally support it.

Rev. H. A. Gray addressed the young men upon the subject "In the ways of righteousness there is life." He said every man has a more valuable life than the young men who came west and eventually the urgent need of Y. M. C. A. work.

He pointed out the need of the movement and asked the young men to liberally support it.

THE SUPPLICATIONS OF THE HERALD

The Calgary Herald, Thursday last, ceased abusing the Rutherford administration long enough to implore the Liberals of Gleichen as they valued good government and regarded their own welfare to permit the return of the Conservative candidate by acclamation. As a foundation pretext with which to introduce its supplications, as well as a means of diverting attention from its subsequent undignified attitude the Herald asserts that: "There is a widespread feeling 'amongst men of independent thought' and Liberals who are not fastened 'with chains to the party altar' that 'this convention could do no greater 'service to the country at large than 'by allowing the unopposed return 'of Mr. Walsh who is now in the field 'as the candidate of the Conservative 'party."

Who may be the "men of independent thought" or the Liberals unbound by the chains of partisanship affected by this "widespread feeling" we are not informed. This is passing strange, for if the Herald had any good ground for making the statement what could better further the purpose for which it was made than to attach to it the names of the Liberals with whom the proposal originated, or who were willing to endorse it? That not one name is produced is pretty good evidence that none could be produced; that the thought was fostered by the Herald's wish, and was advanced in the hope of better cloaking the deception and lessening the humiliation of the ensuing plea.

The Herald wails pitifully that,—"The government does not need Gleichen. It holds 22 seats without it—out of a total of 25," and adds with equal pathos: "An opposition composed of two men who, though intelligent, industrious and earnest, have not had the training to fit 'them for the work, cannot be an 'efficient check upon the administration or give to proposed legislation the keen analysis and criticism 'that it should have." As to where the Conservative candidate for Gleichen received his "training" for the work or why he should be a more "efficient check upon the administration" we are left in the dark. This we protest is hardly fair and on behalf of the member for High River and the member for Rosebud we would like the information. The veterans should not be thrown down in this heartless manner.

The Herald next assumes the roll of a friendly counsellor, warning the Liberals of Gleichen, and says: "The 'government's great strength is the 'greatest possible danger to the Liberal party. The baser elements in 'the party can make, and perhaps 'assist upon the recognition of, claims 'which they would not dream of pressing in the face of an effective opposition." Why a government which could afford to sacrifice the support of one-third of its supporters and still have an overwhelming majority should be more dependent on the good-will of every crook and grafter in a party than a government whose very existence depended on the unwavering loyalty of one member is rather hard to see. Yet such is the conclusion from the Herald's line of reasoning.

Lest the Liberals, knowing the ways of the Herald and its friends, should suspect the use which would be afterwards made of their inaction the Herald assures them: "Mr. Walsh's election by acclamation could not, in 'any sense be considered an evidence 'of weakness on the part of the government. On the contrary, it would 'afford the most potent proof of its 'strength. It would commend itself 'to all fair-minded people as a unanimous action on the part of the 'Liberals." The Liberals of Gleichen apparently took this assurance with a grain of salt.

The Herald cites a precedent: "When, after the Dominion elections 'of 1904, the Conservatives went back "to parliament with their numbers 'greatly reduced and leaderless, 'through Mr. Borden's defeat, Sir 'Wilfrid Laurier facilitated the 'Conservative leader's election by acclamation to a seat vacated for him, 'and thereby earned for himself the 'thanks of his opponents, increased 'the admiration in which his followers held him and gained for himself 'the commendation of the general 'public." Where and when said "thanks of his opponents" was tendered the Herald does not mention.

Again the electors are warned that: "A bitter, uncompromising fight such 'as the Liberals are evidently preparing to put up will be regarded as 'evidence of the government's desire to keep Mr. Walsh out of the assembly, because it fears his criticisms and is apprehensive of disclosures following his scrutiny of its 'administrative acts." The Herald's kindly solicitude for the welfare of the government appears equalled only by its high regard for the abilities of Mr. Robertson and Mr. Hiebert.

In conclusion the Herald protests that "This article is not dictated by 'the slightest fear as to the result of a contest, for we have absolutely no 'doubt of Mr. Walsh's triumphant 'election if there is a fight." The reader might have been left to discern the Herald's unshaken confidence in the heroic tenor of its supplications.

The Gleichen Liberals did well to disregard the specious language with which the Herald sought to lure them into a surrender. The pathetic nonsense of the Herald aside, there remains only one good public reason for returning an opposition candidate in a bye-election—a desire to express popular disapproval of a government's policy or record. Should the opposition member be returned in Gleichen the Gleichen Liberals may rest assured that his election would be hailed by the Herald and its friends as a public condemnation of the government and had they permitted the election to go by default they may be equally certain they would be represented as sharing in that condemnation. The Herald's tears are remarkably like those of the crocodile.

History of the Guelph Street

Railway

Mr. F. W. Galbraith writes the Bulletin from Calgary:

"As a former resident of Guelph I was much interested, as well as gratified, with the very favorable showing of the Guelph street railway under municipal ownership and civic management detailed in last night's issue, and I would cordially support those who are endeavoring to have the progressive city of Edmonton adopt a similar far-sighted policy.

"The Guelph street railway owed its inception in 1895 to the public spiritedness of Mr. Geo. Sleeman, a widely-known Ontario brewer and one who has served the city of Guelph as mayor for five or six years at different times. He was in advance of his time in this project, however, as the city had not enough population to maintain the road on the basis on which he ran it, and his expectations of radial railway connection from Hamilton and other districts did not materialize within the time anticipated. He turned down one or two fairly favorable offers for the road as part of a radial system, notably that of the Grand Valley Railway company but financial difficulties finally overtook him and the banks took possession of the street railway among his other assets on which some $88,000 had been spent, but which at that time, 1898-00, did not pay running expenses, yet alone any capital charges. The banks were trying to sell the road and, to that end, renewed existing charters for radial extension and secured new ones. The road had a fifty-year franchise, of which only five or six years had run, and the city council, in view of the likelihood of the road passing to outsiders, had a provision inserted in the banks' bill in the Legislature concerning the road which gave the property owners the option of buying the road for $78,000. Barring the telegraph and telephone companies, this was the only civic service which had rights on the city streets, as the citizens had bought out the gas and electric light and power plants a year before. In order to preserve and secure full rights on their streets, and in order to hold the entrance of radial roads to the city on terms satisfactory to the city, the ratepayers bought the street railway from the banks, though it was not a paying concern, and the council appointed as directors of the road the mayor and chairman of railway committee, and three citizens from among those who had been active in supporting the civic ownership scheme, these men were Mr. J. W. (now Ald.) Lyon, president; Mr. G. B. (now Ald.) Ryan, and Mr. J. J. Drew, and it is to the marked business ability of the board and the excellent management of Manager Hackney that, within three years, the road has not only been vastly improved, but has been put on a profitable commercial basis.

The population of Guelph, at the 1905 census, was 12,996, and the O. A. College community almost adjoining, adds practically another thousand of population, but a very valuable addition it is, as the Ontario Agricultural College travel of students and visitors is probably the most vital factor in the road's receipts. The director, early saw that the road needed considerable improvement, and they submitted a by-law for $30,000 to provide for the purchase of a park outside the city, to buy a storage battery, to make provision for switches to factories, to get additional open cars and other equipment, etc. Ald. Lyon has the reputation of getting almost anything he wants, as he is a man of resourceful energy, and he got his by-law carried, though all the by-laws submitted at the time did not pass through, the directors have the money for factory switches still in the bank, as, owing to steam railway computations, the manufacturers were not disposed then to pay for putting in switches, but the rest of the money has been expended, and has proven a very profitable investment. Riverside park of the spur, a mile or so out, just balances the O. A. College service on the other side, and can be served without any change in the regular twenty-minute schedule. In the summer, when the traffic warrants, a ten-minute service is given, and, by means of the park in which a small menagerie has been started, band concerts, picnics, round trip tickets in the evening, an open ice rink, and, for this coming winter, a toboggan slide, the local traffic has been remarkably stimulated, and the citizens would not think of parting with the road, a cash offer of $125,000 for a property which cost the citizens $108,000 having been quietly ignored last year.

"The regular travel goes at a 3 cent rate—books of 100 tickets being sold for $3.00—and there are the usual 8 for 25c, 6 for 25c, and 5c fares. The St. Thomas (Ont.) street railway, also a municipal concern, carries its regular travel at 8 for 25c, but no privately owned road in Canada, or the States either, so far as I have heard, gives such a cheap and convenient and up-to-date service to its community as does the Guelph street railway.

"Another factor which I should mention is the money spent on the maintenance of the road, independent of the cost of merely running the cars. It is safe to say that no street railway in Canada, in proportion to its income, spends so much money annually in keeping its roadbed, cars and property in first-class shape as does the Guelph street railway. It is a pleasure to ride on the smooth roadbed of the Guelph road, and the contrast between its smooth running and that of privately owned concerns in Hamilton and other Ontario cities is marked. Guelph is a very strong municipal ownership city, because of the very gratifying success of all its public utilities. The net profit of the gas and electric light and power plant last year after allowing for depreciation and paying interest and sinking fund charges was about $12,000, on a capital of $155,000. Fifteen or twenty years ago, the citizens invested $200,000 in the Guelph Junction road, a steam railway fifteen miles long to connect with the Canadian Pacific, and which the C.P.R. leased for 99 years, the city to get 40 per cent. of the gross receipts. For years these receipts ranged from $5,000 to $10,000 annually, for the year ending Oct. 1, 1906, they were $15,000. The road has now been extended by the C.P.R. from Guelph to Goderich, and the city's portion of the traffic receipts stands to be greatly increased by the new traffic passing over the road.

"Get our best men interested, get them to give some of their valuable business experience and ability to the public good on municipal commissions or boards; and there is no doubt about the success and advantage of municipal ownership in Edmonton. The key is good business management and it has paid Guelph generously."

MAYOR MAY'S REPORT.

To the Council, City of Edmonton. Gentlemen,—During my absence from the city, I took the opportunity of examining different classes of pavements in several cities of Canada and the United States.

TORONTO.

I called on Mayor Coatesworth, of Toronto, who was very kind and showed me every courtesy possible.

He introduced me to Mr. Rust, the city engineer, to give me any information in connection with street roads and pavements.

I was with Mr. Rust for the best part of an afternoon both in his office and in a trip through the city, over the different pavements, when he explained to me the different qualities of the several pavements.

Five years ago experiments were made with different kinds of wood, some of which was treated and the balance placed in the streets untreated. Inside of two years the untreated portions showed serious signs of wear and dry-rot. The treated portion stood up fairly well under the traffic, but now shows signs of deterioration at the joints. At the intersection of Union and Yonge streets creosoted wood blocks were laid a year ago. This portion of the street carries, perhaps, the greatest amount of traffic of any street in the city. The only objection that could be taken to them is that the blocks absorbed moisture and heaved.

An examination of asphalt pavement showed that extensive repairs were always being needed at a heavy cost and were always unsatisfactory. There are at present in Toronto 110,000 square yards bitulithic pavement, a greater portion of which has been down for four years and has practically cost the city nothing for repairs. This street is in splendid condition, not a mark or flaw in it.

After our ride through the city and Mr. Rust's explanation of each pavement, I asked him the question, "What in his honest opinion was the best pavement for the city?" and he stated "that there was no doubt as to the quality of bitulithic and that in his mind it was the best pavement at the present time. I asked him why the city of Toronto did not lay more bitulithic. His answer was "that it was too expensive as compared with asphalt, and that the property owners petitioning for the paving of their streets, ask for certain pavement and as is often the case, they look for the cheapest pavement.

Bitulithic pavement in Toronto costs $2.30 with concrete bottom, wood blocks cost $3.25 per square yard and asphalt from $1.40 to $1.90.

OTTAWA.

I was over a great many of the streets of Ottawa and found the asphalt pavements in bad condition, there are no block pavements in this city, but there is one beautiful street of bitulithic pavement which has been down two years.

I failed in my endeavors to meet the engineer of this city.

CHICAGO.

I called upon Mr. Hill, city engineer of Chicago, and had a long conversation with him. I got an automobile and drove over and saw the different paved streets of the city.

The condition of the down city streets, where the heavy traffic is concentrated is all brick or block. The brick is very rough and very noisy, a pavement that in my mind is out of the question for us to discuss.

I saw one piece of creosote block pavement on Adams street bridge. This pavement had been down four years, and is practically worn out, of course the traffic on this bridge is not only constant but of the heaviest kind; there is, therefore, a reason for the rapid wear.

I also saw a very pretty piece of creosote block pavement on Michigan avenue, in front of the Auditorium. This pavement has been laid for two years, and is in perfect condition, is a beautiful street, although subject to light traffic.

I drove over about a mile of bitulithic pavement laid this year and I found it in all respects a beautiful street.

In summing up, Mr. Hill, city en-

THE REBUILDING OF FRISCO

A City While You Wait.

(Edmonton Free Press)

In the history of the Anglo-Saxon race on the North American continent, since the days when the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock and commenced that era of settlement and civilization which has been for three hundred years spreading like a fan west, south and north from the Atlantic seaboard there have been enacted few more dramatic or picturesque incidents than the appropriation of the last vest by the agriculturalist and the consequent spectacular production of centres of trade which are being brought into existence over night, so to speak, and projected into prominence as cities of the first rank so quickly that a kinesiologist working on the high gear would not keep pace with their movements.

There is no other stretch of country in the western hemisphere today in which there is anything like the activity that is shown in that part of Canada lying between the Red River and the Rocky mountains.

For doubters, if those there be, who having seen still doubt, evidence indisputable is found in a second's reflection on the railway development.

The statistics of railway construction in United States for the year 1906 indicate that there have been constructed or are under construction to be completed this year 5,000 miles of railway. This marks the current year as one of the greatest in railway development in the history of the American union.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan there will be laid next year more than half as much steel as was laid in the whole of the United States during the present year.

The Grand Trunk Pacific alone will lay close to 900 miles of steel west of the Red River before the snow furrows cross the plains in 1907. The Canadian Pacific will put the iron on nearly 800 miles of track now being graded between Winnipeg and Edmonton. James J. Hill is laying a strip of steel 1,200 miles long across the south half of the inland empire of which 500 or 600 miles will be laid next summer. And the Canadian Northern can be confidently counted on to grade and iron 300 or 400 miles of track from Edmonton into the mountains at Yellowhead Pass.

These are the roads which will certainly be made ready for operation next year; somewhere between 2,500 and 2,800 miles. There are rumors of much more but we are dealing now with certainties only.

In the entire United States, where they build 5,000 miles of railway this year, there are close to one hundred million people. In the Canadian west where they will build 2,500 miles next year there are scarcely one million people. On a basis of population the ratio is 50 to 1 in our favor; and yet this does not tell the whole story. Most of the railways which are being laid down in United States are being constructed to serve communities already built and long settled. Most of the railways which are being laid down in Canada are building and settling as they go the communities which they will serve when constructed.

This is the chrysalis of the whole story and this is why we see cities like Edmonton jumping from 3,000 in 1901 to 12,000 population in 1906.

Of all the cities which are being wrought out of this wonderful era of expansion none other has a story to tell like Edmonton; and perforce none other could, for none other is to the same extent the objective point of the railway constructionist. All lines are headed this way and all railway profiles have Edmonton marked large and red as the city of their desire.

It is a perfect confidence in the knowledge of this fact which has led Edmonton people to place such faith in their town, but this very confidence has led most of us to regard lightly or with inattention the things which have been already done.

For instance, how many of us are aware that the building for the first ten months of this year is two and one half times greater than for the whole of last year.

In 1905 the building of Edmonton was $702,724. To the 31st of October, 1906 it was $1,755,829.

The following are the official figures taken from the returns in the building inspectors office:

BUILDING RECORDS.
January	$ 12,418
February	56,920
March	102,915
April	218,927
May	160,825
June	244,010
July	207,410
August	212,165
September	212,311
October	307,928
Total	$1,755,829

This places Edmonton as fifth in building among the cities of Canada, being surpassed only by cities of the very first magnitude. Montreal, of course, leads with close to $15,000,000 of building for this year. Winnipeg comes second with $11,675,000 to date. Toronto, although second largest, in population in the Dominion, is third in building so far, being just half a million behind Winnipeg. Vancouver the Sunset Doorway of the Dominion is fourth with a promise of crowding the four-million mark before the close of the year. Edmonton is fifth with its $1,755,000 outstripping by hundreds of thousands many cities of much larger population such as Hamilton, London, Halifax, St. John, Ottawa and Quebec. Regina, Edmonton's husky rival for western pre-eminence, is less than a quarter of a million behind us and coming strong in the stretch, her building to October 31st being $1,697,538. Calgary, Lethbridge, Brandon and all other western towns, while showing phenomenal growth, are far enough down to be ranked among the cent-belt cities of the east where progress is measured by geologic periods instead of with a stop watch.

In the City of Edmonton since the first of January, 1906, there have been built or there are now under construction 858 buildings of all classes. There has been no time since the snow went off last spring and even before, that the resident within the city limits could get beyond the music of the hammer and saw. Considering that there have been six large hotels added during the summer it would be safe to estimate that the buildings provide accommodation for five persons each on an average, which means that four thousand more people find accommodation in Edmonton this winter than did last. Nevertheless there have been 2,500 people under canvas in the city all summer and there are still many who cannot find other accommodation. Looking at it in another way, over 1,000 lots which last spring were speculative property have been withdrawn from the market and are now being used for residential or business purposes. This is a phase of the case which should tend to stiffen the real estate market.

To look at it in yet another way, there have been 578 dwellings built within the past ten months and when it is considered that the average cost of all the buildings constructed was over $2,000 it will readily be seen that no city in America is building a greater proportion of comfortable homes.

In the public buildings constructed Edmonton leads the whole of the west. The new separate school cost $45,000. The Y.M.C.A., which is being built on a purely voluntary subscription will cost $50,000. The Edmonton club now nearing completion will cost $19,500. The isolation hospital cost $19,000. The new telephone central being built by the city will cost $22,538 for the building alone. The C.P.R. spent $11,000 on a freight shed which is regarded as for temporary purposes only. The Immigration hall erected by the Dominion government cost $10,000.

Among the hotels, the new palatial King Edward, which will be opened in a few days cost Ferguson & Calhoun $35,000 exclusive of the plumbing, heating, decorating or interior finishing and the Castle cost $22,000 on the same basis while the Cecil which is already running several weeks, long enough to be counted one of the old timers, cost $20,000. The Edmonton hotel spent $5,000 on an addition and $3,500 to rebuild and modernize the Jasper.

Among the big buildings down town the most costly was the handsome structure being erected by the Imperial Bank, the pioneer banking concern of the city. The estimate calls for a $75,000 building. The Credit Foncier are spending $35,000 on their building. Revillon Bros. are building an addition to their already mammoth stores to cost $35,000. John Somerville's new hardware store on First street will cost $28,000.

Among the mercantile people, almost every one of them have found it necessary to build greater warehouses, some of them finding it necessary to start a second and even a third one before the first was completed.

A partial list of the wholesale and warehouse buildings constructed during the past summer is as follows:

Telfer Bros.	$17,565
Edmonton Ice Co.	3,100
Campbell Furniture Co.	3,700
Bellamy Implement Co.	2,800
Edmonton Produce Co.	1,000
J. W. Lachambre	10,000
James McCready	2,100
Ross Bros.	1,400
Geo. Hutton	1,600
J. W. Walker	2,199
Revillon Bros.	1,200
D. R. Fraser	1,200
Arthur Congdon	3,500
Alberta Milling Co.	1,000
McDonnell & Secord	1,400
Chas. May	500
Robert Warden	1,400
Revillon Bros., College Ave.	2,500
H. Watts	2,000
City of Edmonton	2,350
Edmonton Milling Co.	3,000
J. H. Watts	1,500

The Great West Saddlery spent $5,000 enlarging their premises and the Edmonton Tent and Mattress Co., had scarcely finished a $3,000 factory when they found it necessary to commence on a $6,000 building for the same purpose.

John Walters, Cushing Bros. D. R. Fraser and W. R. McInnis have all found the lumber business such as to warrant extensive enlargements. Ten thousand has been spent in enlarging the printing offices of the town. The number of restaurants, rooming houses and boarding houses which have been built would fill half a column.

'Semi-ready' dress clothes are the highest expression of art in tailoring

THE best tailor in town makes only 3 or 4 dress suits in a year. They are novelties with him, and their style and making are pretty much an experiment. That is why so many gentlemen look like waiters when they put on dress clothes. The design of the Semi-ready dress suit is the work of a sartorial artist of the highest rank. The suits are tailored by men who do nothing else—they are specialists in the tailoring of dress clothes.

Semi-ready dress clothes are made of light-weight unfinished worsteds. The coat is delicately designed, as the parts are smaller than in any other style. The balance and lines are such as to show the figure at its best. The shoulders are broad yet natural form.

The Semi-ready dress suit is made with a longer lapel, rolling to within two and a half inches of the waist, with considerable convex on crease, and a softened point at bottom of lapel instead of the usual harsh point.

On account of the carefully designed lines, the coat adheres closely to the figure, the skirt is more shapely and sets smoothly over the hips.

The skirts are longer, tapering towards the bottom with slightly rounded corners. The illustration shows these lines. If you wear a dress suit at all, it should be correct in style and tailoring. We would like to show you how sumptuous the Semi-ready dress suit and tuxedo are. Will you call in?

Zam-Buk

The old Roman charioteers, and heroes wounded by wild beasts in the now ruined Colosseum at Rome, anointed their wounds with secret balms made from the roots and herbs of the field. Instinct tells us to rub a place that hurts, and in Zam-Buk, the great herbal balm, is found the ideal substance with which to rub. Zam-Buk differs from ordinary salves, ointments, etc., in the important fact that it contains no trace of any mineral substance, and is also free from animal oil or fat. It is composed of the finest herbal essences and juices, and is so refined that the most delicate skin can absorb it with beneficial effect. It is at one and the same time healing, soothing and antiseptic. It does more, does it better, and does it in less time than any other known balm.

ECZEMA, SCALP SORES AND ERUPTIONS CURED.

Mr. Henry Harvey, of Coteauville, Ont., writes:—"I am glad to state that Zam-Buk in my case has done all it was recommended to do. I had some sores on the scalp which it caused me such acute pain that I could not bear to touch the part. This continued for nearly two years, and I tried all remedies I tried. Zam-Buk was recommended to me and, after a fair trial, I am glad to report the sores are quite cured. I can strongly recommend Zam-Buk for scalp diseases."

Mr. J. Ball, of Coteauville, Ont., writes:—"I consider Zam-Buk splendid value. I have used it on Burns, Pimples, Cuts and Sores, and have found it to contain more healing qualities than any preparation used before, and can recommend it."

Mrs. Nellie Campbell, of Inverary, Ont., writes:—"I think Zam-Buk a splendid healer. I had a bad spot of Eczema on one of my fingers that bothered me terribly. I obtained a supply of Zam-Buk and, to my delight, it healed the Eczema very rapidly. I shall keep a supply of Zam-Buk handy, as I think it such a convenient remedy. I would not be without it in the house."

WHAT ZAM-BUK CURES:
